The Midwest May Flying Meeting

Due to the poor field and drive conditions the May flying meeting needed to be postponed a week from the originally scheduled May 1 day.

May 8 was a mostly sunny day. Unfortunately for those who arrived at the field early, there was a pretty good downpour between 4:10 and 4:45. Fortunately it passed and the flying continued through the evening.

Jim Lapham cooked up the field dinner and got everything set up for us. Jim, thanks so very much for this and all you do for the club!!!

Shortly after the field dinner, it decided to rain for a bit while the sun was out. It was not enough to stop the flying and it cleared quickly.

After the brief shower there was a beautiful rainbow to enjoy while flying to the east.

We had a very nice turnout including a guest flier and two new students.

Unfortunately, Ken was kept so busy with the new students, and our other students, that he didn't get any photos of this great get together.

The evening capped off with several people trying to spot land their small, very light planes on the control line cement circle. It was a lot of fun and a really big challenge.

It was a great evening. Come on out on June 5 and join in the fun and friendship.

Field Opening Day

The field and drive were officially opened for the 2013 flying season on Saturday, May 4.

While the temperature was mild, the winds were a bit high, 15+ mph, but at least they were blowing from the east

It was a day for some of our 'better' pilots to enjoy.
