The May Flying Meeting - Upcoming Events

The May Flying Meeting

Because of the foul flying weather on May 4, the flying meeting was postponed until May 11.

It was a very pleasant evening for flying. The temperatures were in the mid-60 range and there was only a hint of a breeze, but the sky was a bit gray.

Unfortunately, the turnout was a bit scant.

Larry Markey was out tossing about his fantastic discus launch glider. It is truly amazing.

He was also testing out a new Andrew Jesky prototype design. It flew really well and is very impressive.

Bob McDonald brought out his new, and not quite completed, Great Planes .60- (cont. on back page) size P-51. It looked great on the tarmac and should be a good flier.

A new, potential flier showed up at the field. Ken Myers wasted no time in getting him into the air using Ken's version of the Flite Test Old Fogey as a trainer.

Ken's version is 1.22 times larger than the original FT version and actually flies very well, after about a half dozen NECESSARY modifications.

You can check out video of Ken's version at;
